Ch. Karnovanda's Ceilidh

Ceilidh is my first AKC Champion! She was graciously shown for all her points by Kelly. Her first major was going BOW under Breeder-Judge Carol Deeks at the 2009 Camino Real Specialty, and incredibly exciting moment, and great honor. She finished at last year's Richmond Dog Fanciers show with her second 4 point major.

Ceilidh was bred, and is co-owned with Judy Russell and Donna Beckman. She is sweet, nice, funny, insouciant, and a joy to show. She's also a joy to live with, and just always seems to make me smile. Thanks to Judy and Donna for sharing this lovely girl with me, and Kelly for handling her.

Ch. Serenade's Winter Wizard

Merlin finished his championship November 2009 taking points handled by 3 of his 4 owners. His first point came from the 6-9 mo. puppy class handled by owner Jessica Tamagni. Merlin picked up his majors from the BBE class, the first on the Mission Circuit in So. California and his 2nd major won in Northern California. Merlin is a happy go lucky guy who never meets a stranger. His favorite game is to play keep away in the yard when it is time to go back in the kennel, and boy is he good at the game! Thanks to Judy and Jessica for letting me show Merlin in Bred By and for getting him pretty for the shows.

Ch. Trailside's Lil Fashion Statement

Prada is our first home bred Champion. So that was pretty exciting. Since I'm not sure what else to write, I'll tell a story about her....One day we were going on a jog and she always jumps in the bushes when she hears a noise....and out flew a bird and she jumped up and caught it in her mouth.....I was like no way!!!! and then I tried to grab it out of her mouth and she swallowed it whole!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!! so gross!!!!, and she passed her hunting skills on to her daughter Dita....*(she just caught a gopher but didn't eat it). Anyways Prada is a happy camper at home swimming in the kiddie pool.

HOW WE MADE IT HAPPEN (cont. from previous newsletter)

submitted by Bonnie Wilson

I learned that there is a National Spay Day in February and that Sacramento County takes part in that, so I wondered if Placer County might join in rather than “reinventing the wheel.” I researched the websites for Spay Day and we contacted the head of the committee to see if we could obtain more information on the Spay Day. My friend and I drove to Sacramento and met with a couple of the ladies on the committee asking questions about how their Spay Day operates. We were invited to attend their general meeting that evening. As we assembled with others at the large building for the meeting, another small group arrived and asked our leaders about location of a meeting in the same building. It seems they were Boxer breeders looking for a meeting of their club. They were directed elsewhere, but as they left, the people of the Spay Day group made some derogatory comments about “Breeders”! I thought to myself, “Well, I am not going to tell anyone in this group that I am one of “Those”!

We attended the meeting and began to understand how their Spay Day operates. Their group included many very genuine people (vet techs, rescue groups, etc). Their mode of operation was quite complicated. Besides recruiting veterinarians willing to participate, it also involved getting lots of volunteers to work on that Spay Day Sunday. Duties would include enrolling animals and their owners; monitoring animals after surgery; providing transportation for animals; getting donations of food for workers and transporting those to various sites; etc. I wondered how we would be able to round up so many volunteers! I learned that Sacramento County did incorporate other surrounding counties in their program. Each county was responsible to do fund raisers to contribute to the general fund in Sacramento which ran the show. Wow! How would we do all that? Well, I also learned that the whole National Spay Day is sponsored by the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS). This begs the question “With all the money that HSUS gathers from sympathetic donations, why are they not helping to finance this Spay Day?”

After attending this meeting and analyzing the requirements, I told my friend, “There is no way that we could work cooperatively with the Sacramento group.” Besides the difficult logistics mentioned above, I knew that if we received a grant for Placer County animals that we would not be allowed to co-mingle our funds with other counties. My friend’s organization had distributed funds for Spay/Neuter in the past by use of a voucher system. Pet owners signed up and they were issued a voucher which they took to a veterinarian who was later reimbursed from the organization for the surgeries he/she performed. Clients could schedule by appointment at the vet’s convenience rather than meeting the one day a year Spay day schedule. We decided that this might be the best approach for us to follow.

Well, I had never written a grant before, but I carefully tried to follow all the guidelines the county had outlined. I soon learned that my friend, who had said she would help me write the grant, now had “too much on her plate”. So, it was up to me to figure this out. One of the requirements was to describe the organization’s history and accomplishments, so I enlisted help from another member of the rescue organization for that section. I researched other Spay/Neuter programs and did my best to make our grant request unique.

Lo and behold; we got the grant! I contacted local veterinarians with letters explaining the program to them and asking if they were willing to participate. Those who were willing returned their postcards in the affirmative. Even though we explained that the grant would cover a certain amount for dogs & for cats, we later learned that some of the vets were not willing to do it for those prices. My own vet was very generous with his time and did not require extra fees. That was a complication, as we did not want to overburden those vets who were kind enough to offer their services. Besides, some pet owners did not want to pay the difference. Near the end of our program, we routed most of the dogs and cats to the Auburn Spay/Neuter Clinic who worked with us to provide the services at our prices.

As I had predicted, when the public learned of the program, we were inundated by requests. The funds of about $17,000 ran out much sooner than our requests did! In a few short months we had spayed/neutered a total of around 190 dogs and cats. Currently, another individual in the organization plans to collaborate with the other animal rescue organizations in the county to write another grant request for next year.

The question I hear constantly from other animal welfare advocates is “If they call themselves ‘responsible breeders’, what are they doing to help solve problems of animals?” So, I learned that sometimes we need to do more than just talk about our objections to animal legislation issues. We need to become involved on a local level and try to make a difference. I hope that I have helped to bridge the gap between our groups and to change the negative attitudes and distrust that they may have against us breeders. Our goal should be the same: ...to help animals.
