LA PINE MUSHING WEEKEND NOVEMBER 2019

By Cheryl Liddle

I am writing this while staying at my sisters for a dog show. As I was loading up for a trip over the mountain to show ONE dog in conformation, I was thinking it is so much less work to load up a dog team and go for a run. Just sayin!

It was a great season running dogs. I started out with training in September getting up at 4 am on Saturdays drive one hour to train so we were done before the sun hit the trail to get ready for Mushing Boot camp. It made a big difference starting one month earlier than usual.

The next event on the schedule is the annual La Pine Mushing weekend held on Veterans day weekend at La Pine State Park.

The attendance was a little light this year. We usually have around 45 teams. I am sure the single digit overnight temps curtailed the tent campers. Still a nice turn out perfect weather. The club rents the hall in the middle of the camp ground for our use. We actually have campers from Walnut Creek that come up every year to watch us.

Again, the early start in training payed off got to run the 7-mile loop both days, see some different scenery.

It is always nice to see mushers from CA, WA NV and of course OR. It is an annual favorite, all skill levels from bikes, scooters carts and ATVs. Run on your own schedule, options of 1.5 to 7 miles marked trails. Pot luck lunch Saturday, club meeting late afternoon. The evenings staying warm by the fire hanging out with old and new friends. Not to mention the professional photographer Deb Blair up early getting great shots of all the teams.
